

Claudia Forte

Supervisor, Association of Financial Education in Brazil (AEF Brasil)

Claudia Forte has a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in Business Administration, and earned a PhD in Integration of Latin America from University of São Paulo (USP) in 2006. Her thesis was titled Study of comparative cases between microcredit programs in Latin America: the socioeconomic impact in women in the cities of Bogota and Recife. She is an appraiser of Business Administration, Foreign Trade and International Relations courses of INEP. She is a professor and researcher in undergraduate and lato sensu courses of the Mackenzie Presbyterian University. She is the Counselor and Vice-President of External Relations of the Regional Council of Administration of São Paulo. She is part of PNUD's group of researchers/advisors, working for the development of microfinance, microcredit, social inclusion, financial education and regional development. She is a reviewer of several academic-scientific magazines, and she has published several articles in Brazilian and international newspapers. Claudia is a panelist and guest lecturer in several international conferences, with the following themes: management, entrepreneurship, microcredit, international relations, among others. She is currently Supervisor at Association of Financial Education in Brazil (AEF Brasil).

She worked 13 years in the financial market, and from 2008 to 2015 she worked as International Relations Advisor at the Mackenzie Presbyterian University.