

Daniel Pfannemüller

Associate Director, B3

Daniel Pfannemüller is currently Associate Director at B3, the Brazilian financial market infrastructure company, which is the result of the merger of BM&FBOVESPA and CETIP. He is responsible for the market education area. He is also a member of the Brazilian National Financial Education Strategy Committee (CONEF) and a board member of the Brazilian Financial Education Association (AEF-Brasil).

Daniel holds a degree in business administration from the University of São Paulo and graduate and executive programs from Boston School, Babson College, Rotman School of Management and Wharton School. Previously, he had more than 15 years of experience working as an executive in several companies within the Brazilian Financial Sector, such as BankBoston, Fleet Financial Group, Bank of America and Itaú in the areas of corporate education and organizational development.