

PAMELA MCDONALD

Director of Communications and Education
British Columbia Securities Commission

Pamela McDonald is the Director of Communications and Education at the British Columbia Securities Commission.

She is a seasoned communications professional with more than twenty-five years of experience in the communications and public affairs professions providing strategic counsel to senior corporate and government executives, and Boards of Directors on all aspects of a company's business.

Ms. McDonald has extensive experience working in senior communications and public affairs roles in the private and public sectors, having worked at TELUS and the B.C. Transmission Corporation, as well as with the B.C. Olympic Games Secretariat and as an advisor to former Prime Minister Jean Chrétien.

She is also passionate about giving back to her community and is involved in local not-for-profit organizations that support arts education for disadvantaged and youth at risk.

Ms. McDonald is a graduate of the University of British Columbia.